The history of Buddhism in China presents attractions no less to the student of Chinese history than to the student of Buddhism itself. So strange have been its fortunes and so varied its career in this country that, apart from all other considerations it must be interesting and instructive to all who think seriously about religion or the welfare of humanity. Nor can it be said that this is a subject which has been already

It seems to be impossible now to ascertain the precise date of the introduction of this religion into China. The Ching trutiung rejects the commonly received opi-mion which assigns it to the reign of Min Ti (1.D. 58 to 76) of the East Han Dynasty. This work says that under the Ch'in Dyansty (B. C. 246-202), Shi-li-fang and other foreign ascetics came to China, and that Shi Hwangti-the emperor who has made himself forever famous by the burning of the ancient books, and the massacre of the learned men-regarding them as strange and outlandish objects, put them in prison. During the night a golden man broke open the door and allowed them to escape. Moreover Lie-tzu a philosopher who lived near the end of the Chow Dynasty, says that in the time of King Mu (B.C. 1001 to 946) there came to China from the extreme west a magiciau who was able to go into water and fire, pass through metal and stone, and do many Buddha, but wrongly. The same philosopher represents Confucius as saying with emotion to a T'ai trai or high officer, named Shang, that there was a Sheng cho or god-like man, among the people of the West.

There are, however, doubts as to the genuineness of the remark; and the descrip-

In the reign of king Wu (B.C. 140 86) of the West Han Dynasty, a gold image of Buddha was brought to China, and set up as a model according to which the images of Buddha were afterwards made. King the statements of Lie-tzu, we must, I think, agree with the author of the Cheng-tau-tung, that long before the time of Han Ming Ti the existence of the Buddha had been known in China. Nor can the apparent case and readiness with which this emperor's dream was interpreted be explained otherwise.

The vision of a gold man more than ten feet high appeared to him one night, and on relating the circumstance to his courtiers, they asserted that the gold man was the divine Buddha of the West. We may there-

SUPREME COURT (Before the Hon. Judge SMALE.) June 17, 1869. PIPON v. BOSMAN.

The Pourt sat at ten o'clock, when the argument in the above case was continued. Mr Pollard, referring to the character of Bosman as an agent, contended that if there were the slightest doubt about his liability to pay this money, then no special liability could be established; because, according to Judge Parke and Lord Campbell, special agency and liability must be shown beyond

His Lordship observed that the question between Mr Pollard and Mr Hayllar was that, while the former held that Bosman was regarded all through as purely the agent of Koopmanschapp & Co., the latter looked upon Bosman in his own proper person (at least so far as the payment of the money was concerned.) There was another question, however; Would Pipon & Co. be able to recover from Koopmanschapp? Mr Pollard replied that they could. Bosman ceased altogether to act as agents for Koopmanschapp, and the San Francisco firm had not only acquiesced in but approved of the doings of Bosman regarding the shipment in the Paul Ricquet. On the score of acquiesence alone, the Californian firm was liable.

We believe that Mr. Bird, a carpenter in Shaughai, has come forward and stated on affidavit that he made a box for the who has lately been figuring in H. B. M.'s Court, and that it contains iron, lead and stones, and was sealed with a Siamese coin. The box, which is the one alleged to contain a quantity of gold, has, we believe, been handed over to the French Consul.

It is stated that Mr Vice-Consul Forrest. British Assessor at the Mixed Court, is to appear on Wednesday before the Chief Judge, at the suit of Mr Andrew Campbell, to account for his accepting insufficient security for the payment of some hundred taels in which a native was indebted to the petitioner, and for which he obtained the judgment of the Mixed Court.

(From the "Straite Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had occasion to remark ipon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on China and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with we commend it to the attention and support of our readers. (From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868. We acknowledge with thanks the receipt the numbers for the current year of 'Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and ental antiquities. It deserves to be better (From the "London Examiner," May
